CLOSED UP.—Yesterdayall the drinking saloons in the city and vicinity were closed up, by order of the commander of this military department. The effects of this precautionary measure have not yet been fully realized. A great many people felt dry, looked dry, and were dry. A great many stomachs were astonished by the introduction of fluids to which they were unaccustom-ed, such as ice water, and other nauseating drinks. One indignant freeman, who had spent an hour in reading signs which indicated that his favorite Old Rye was sold within, but finding no hole through which he could gain admittance, exclaimed, "Where now are your free institutions, when a man who as never stooped to anything less than whisky is compelled to drink water with the common herd? Such a thing was never heard of in a free country!" Just at this point in his remarks, a countrymen passed with a molasses jug, and the indignant citizen followed Bugle & Lace Trimmed Parasols. stranger was an acquaintance of his wife's brother, and he would have to

THE SYMPTOMS:

They generally appear are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards becoming thick and adhesive. As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and laevy, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a had breath; the voice is thick and masal, the eyes are weak; the sense of the smell is lessened or destroyed; dearness frequently takes place. Another common and important syntom of Catarrh is that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucus, which has fallen down from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in artesting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrh. The Poctor's Diploma hangs in his office.
